Are you ready?

You've finally made the move to WVU. Suitcases stuffed with everything from old high school letter jackets (with the letters removed, of course) to black light posters are sitting in the middle of your dorm room. You're equipped with every gadget imaginable to confront the obstacles a university might bring. But, are you REALLY ready?

If someone wants to meet you at "the stadium" for a beer, will you go to the Mountaineer Field with a six pack and hope he'll show? Do you think Grumbein's Island is a place where biology students go on field trips? Do you think the PRT tracks are bicycle paths? Can you get on the Med Center bus WITHOUT having to ask the bus driver where he is going?

Think about it. You've got a lot to learn in four years.

Army, Air Force ROTC

For students in the Army ROTC, various activities such as Persian rifles (military drill team), Ranger Co., Scabbard & Blade (military honorary) and the Military Ball are offered. Air Force ROTC involves students in the Aerospace Ball, Angel Flight, Arnold Air Society and a "dining out" in the fall.

rt

What better way to inform students of current happenings than to bombard them with signs day after day? A favorite form of artwork, signs greet the student from every position imaginable, from flapping posts above the Lair to riveted stakes in the middle of Woodburn Circle. Sometimes they are so intent and concentrated that you cannot help but become aware of them (and we're not "joshing").

Band

Noted for their spectacular entrances, elaborate formations and "Mountaineer Fight Song," the WVU Marching Band never fails to raise the fans to their feet during football season. One of their outstanding feats this year was a "motorcycle" jump across the Mountaineer Field by band member Brad "Evil Knievel" Dugan.

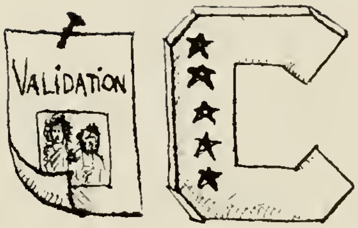
Bikes

1975 has been the "year of the bike," for WVU finally provided bicycle racks at various locations around campus. Popular parking places still include the middle of sidewalks, closets, hallways and even fire wells in dorms.

12

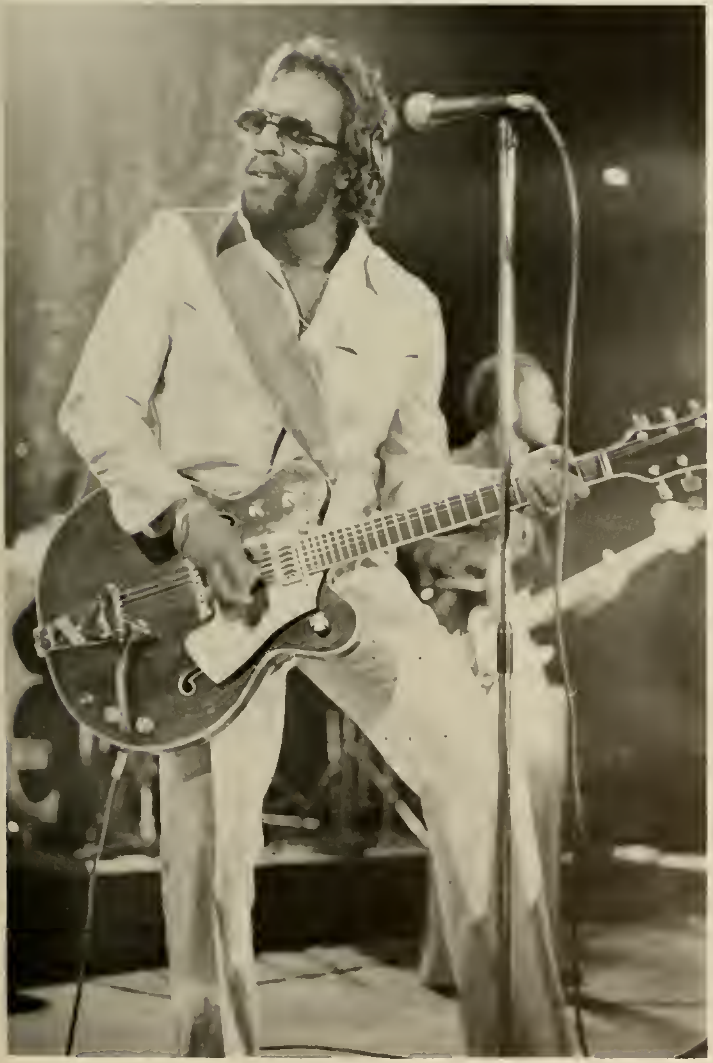
Cavities

These little holes seem to be especially prevalent during the college years. Several theories as to why this occurs are as follows: not enough money to buy toothpaste, not bringing your toothpaste with you when you crash at someone's place, staying up all night to study (and eat) and not passing up the candy counter in the Lair. Of course, chances are you may just have rotten teeth anyway.



Concerts

Because of the University policy which prohibits percentage contracts, top name groups were hard to attract to this area. Thus, only three concerts came to Morgantown this year. Sponsored by the Pop Arts Committee, Seals and Croft and New Riders of the Purple Sage came first semester, while War (pictured on these pages) performed second semester.



Crowds

You cannot get through four years at WVU without finding yourself caught in a crowd. They come in all sizes and are most unpredictable. Popular gathering grounds include football games, basketball games, validation lines and areas where the Morgantown police are either towing or engaged in a ticket writing binge.

Dorm Life

As a freshman, you are required to live in a dormitory. Here, you experience such pleasures as ringing fire alarms, "no booze" rules, hours for visits from the opposite sex, water battles, cafeteria lines and quiet (?) hours.

Elections

As the Howard Skidmore-Jamal Ahmed administration came to a close, four groups of candidates vied for the leading positions. Running for President and Vice-President were Lea Anderson and Michael Burke, Dan Hardway and Robin Weisbarth, Jim Hurst and Charles Howard, Chuck Shreves and Linda Arnold. Anderson and Burke won, marking the first time in WVU history that a student body elected a woman for President.

Grumbein's Island

Between the Lair and Martin Hall, this little concrete island offers the only haven in the mad rush of traffic which passes through. Once in awhile, you may get bumped by a car, but for the most part, drivers usually tend to stop when you step in front of their cars without looking.

Several creative students have used this island for other purposes. It can be used for hitchhiking, as a place to meet friends so others can walk around you, or as a place to fall on in the icy snow.

Intramurals

Organized by the Intramural Department, these sports offer students a chance to compete at a level between "pickup" and intercollegiate games.

Joking Around

This is a state of being WVU students often display due to the following causes: drinking too much beer (or whatever), pulling "all-nighters," getting ready for blind dates, forgetting a test is scheduled for the one day you make it to class, focusing attention on yourself when all else fails or passing time in between your class load of six hours.

Kegs

Usually predominant on weekends, these containers of beer can often be seen stacked sky-high at Greek houses, private parties or at Summit Hall. People observed carrying them can be found saying, "Damn, this thing is heavy!"

Interested people wishing to observe the weekend rituals to beer distributors would have the most success following a caravan to Pt. Marion, Pa.

Labs

Labs are those blocks of time found in the Schedule of Courses in which one receives an 0 for "hours credit," but a 4-6 for "hours spent."

Forum Festival
Presents

Lectures

Lectures are usually long talks by professors which cause one to nod out. Occasionally, a good lecturer will come along during a semester's study. One can detect this by testing to see how many times a watch had to be checked for the correct time.

Lectures can also apply to the speakers brought in by the Forum Festival Committee. The major difference between these lectures and the ones mentioned above is the fact that one need not take notes at the latter (unless of course, your classroom lecturer informs you in his lecture that you are required to).

Rosey Grier, football player turned actor, speaks on his insights into the sports world.

Gene Roddenberry, creator of the Star Trek series, talks on science fiction to overflowing crowd in Coliseum.

Julian Bond, presidential hopeful from Georgia, comments on the political areno.

Supercop David Tomo highlights the perils and complicotions of olice work.

TV tolk show host Dovid Frost gives o sociol commentary.

Leisure

The time not spent on sitting, talking and listening in class is called leisure. Also excluded from this concept are those times spent at meetings, looking for jobs, talking to advisors or hunting for parking spaces. (SEE: Bicycles, Concerts, Hangouts and Parties)

Miss WVU

The Miss West Virginia University pageant ran two days this year, with talent competition on the first day and swim suit and evening gown competition on the last day. Sandy Allbaugh, reigning queen, crowned the new Miss WVU, Teresa Lucas.

Mountaineer Week

"Heritage and Dreams, West Virginia" was the theme for the 1975 Mountaineer Week. Organized by the student government Mountaineer Week Committee, this event featured such events as a week long Arts and Crafts fair (where artists from all over the state displayed their wares), a General Store and a Best Dressed Mountaineer contest. The week culminated in the selection of Mr. and Mrs. Mountaineer, Denise Koppleman and Bruce Bovard.

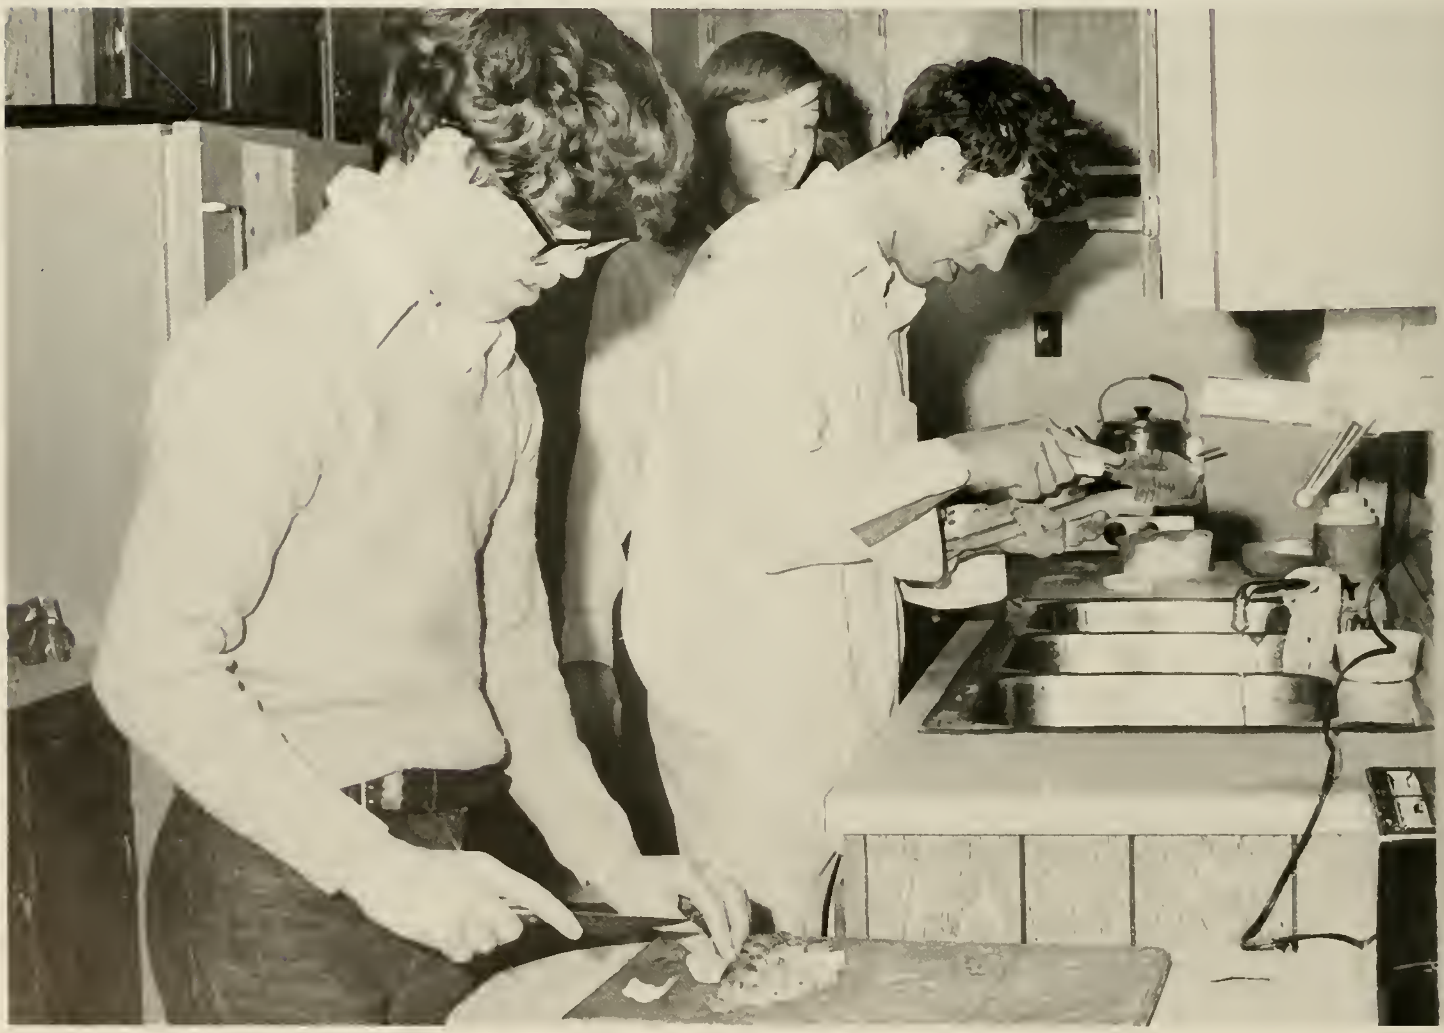
Off Campus Living

Rather than suffer through dormitory food, many students prefer apartment life (that is, if you can find an apartment without rats in the walls, cracked floors, broken bathtub legs, broken locks or leaky gas ovens). You can easily tell the difference between an "off campus liver" and a "dorm liver" by studying their newspaper reading habits. The former will almost always go for the grocery store ads, and it is not unusual to see one begin cutting out coupons in the middle of class.



GT

Organizations

Opportunities to "get involved" at WVU generally fall into three categories. Academic and service honor societies comprise the first group. These consist of such groups as Mortar Board (Senior Women's Honorary), Mountain (Men's Honorary), Omicron Nu Society (Home Economics) and Rho Chi (Pharmacy). Professional honor societies, such as Alpha Delta Theta (Medical Technology), Sigma Delta Chi (Journalism) and Beta Alpha Psi (Accounting) are in the second group. The final grouping consists of national and local student groups such as Black Unity Organization, Marketing Club, Monongamoot and Students for Peace and Justice.

Parking

If you own a car, Morgantown is not "almost heaven." Parking spaces are difficult to come by unless you are among the elite permit holders or can get to the Lair garage by 6:30 a.m. to wait in line. Towing fines and parking tickets are much easier to come by (especially those back tickets you have to pay when towed).

There is hope though that many of these problems will be eliminated with the running of the Personal Rapid Transit system (those empty tracks you see everywhere). That is, of course only a rumor.

Travel

Ways to get around campus include walking, hitchhiking, driving and taking a bus. For the lazy there are taxicabs. For the real lazy: cut class and stay in bed.

Umbrellas

These nifty pieces of hardware are a must in Morgantown weather. At the slightest hint of rain, they pop up all over, making passing on the stadium bridge rather difficult. If you do not own one, simply scour any classroom on a rainy day, and you will be sure to find one kicked into a corner somewhere.

Volunteers

Student apathy is not universal, as campus organizations prove. Volunteer groups such as SAAP and SPACE, as well as groups sponsoring drives such as the Heart Fund and Cancer, are illustrative of still another way a student may "get involved" in his college years.

1 of 18,236 Reasons Why CONSOL Cares Most About Safety

At CONSOL we care about the safety of all the people we work with.

Last year Consol spent over $3,500,000.00 and 420,000 man-hours were devoted to various safety training programs and safety equipment development.

And it's paying off—Accident frequency rates per million man-hours were reduced from 23.46 in 1972 to 11.34 in 1973 and, for the first 5 months of 1974, they were reduced still further to a low of 7.31.

But we're just beginning—New and expanded safety training procedures and mining methods are constantly being developed by Consol—

- Methane monitoring
- Automatic warning devices
- Fire resistant hydraulic fluids
- Protective cabs and canopies
- Central communication centers
- New miner orientation. . and many others

CONSOL'S GOAL
ZERO ACCIDENTS

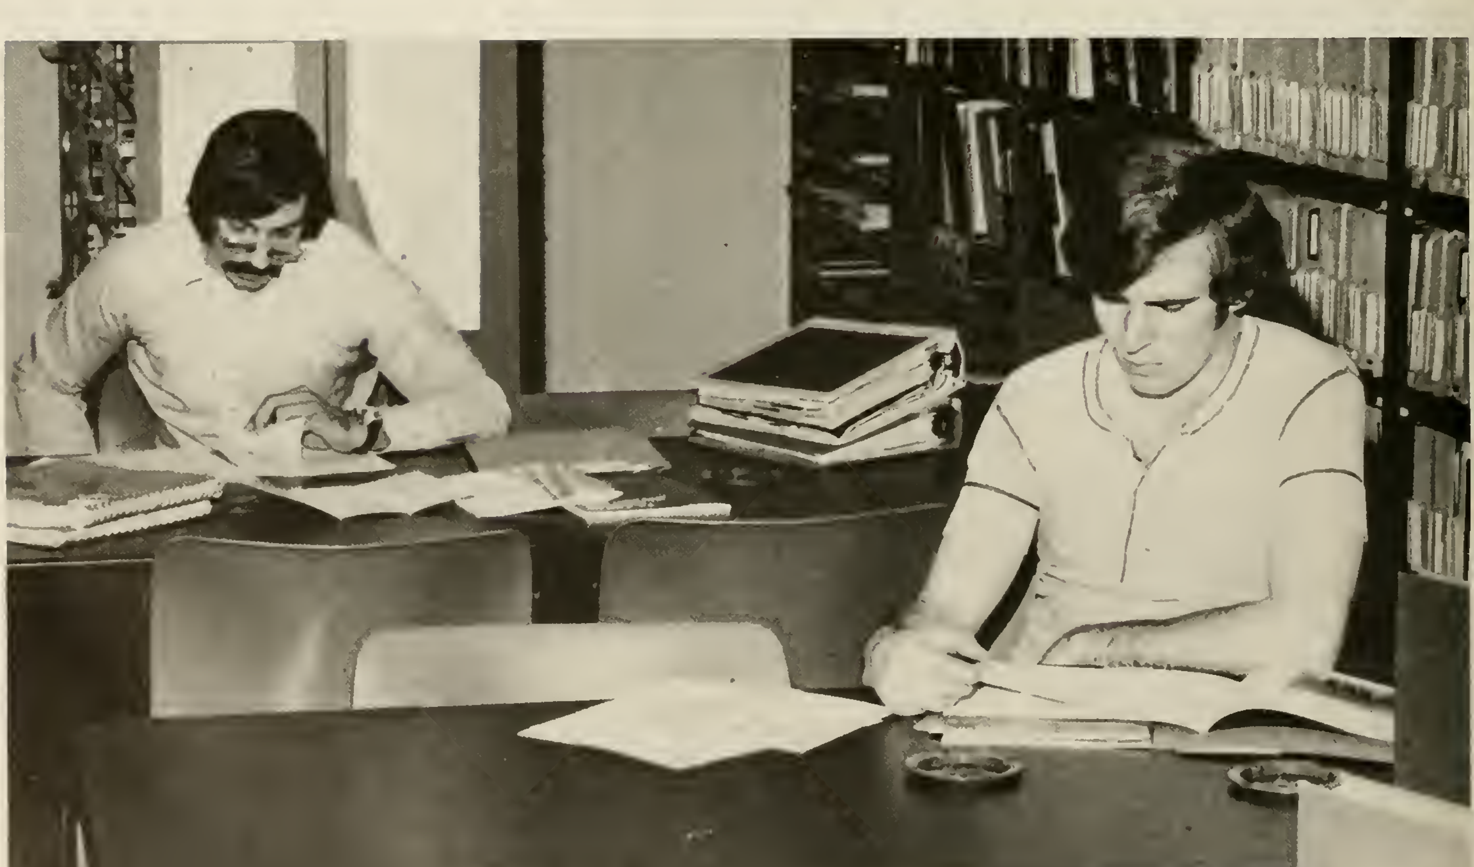
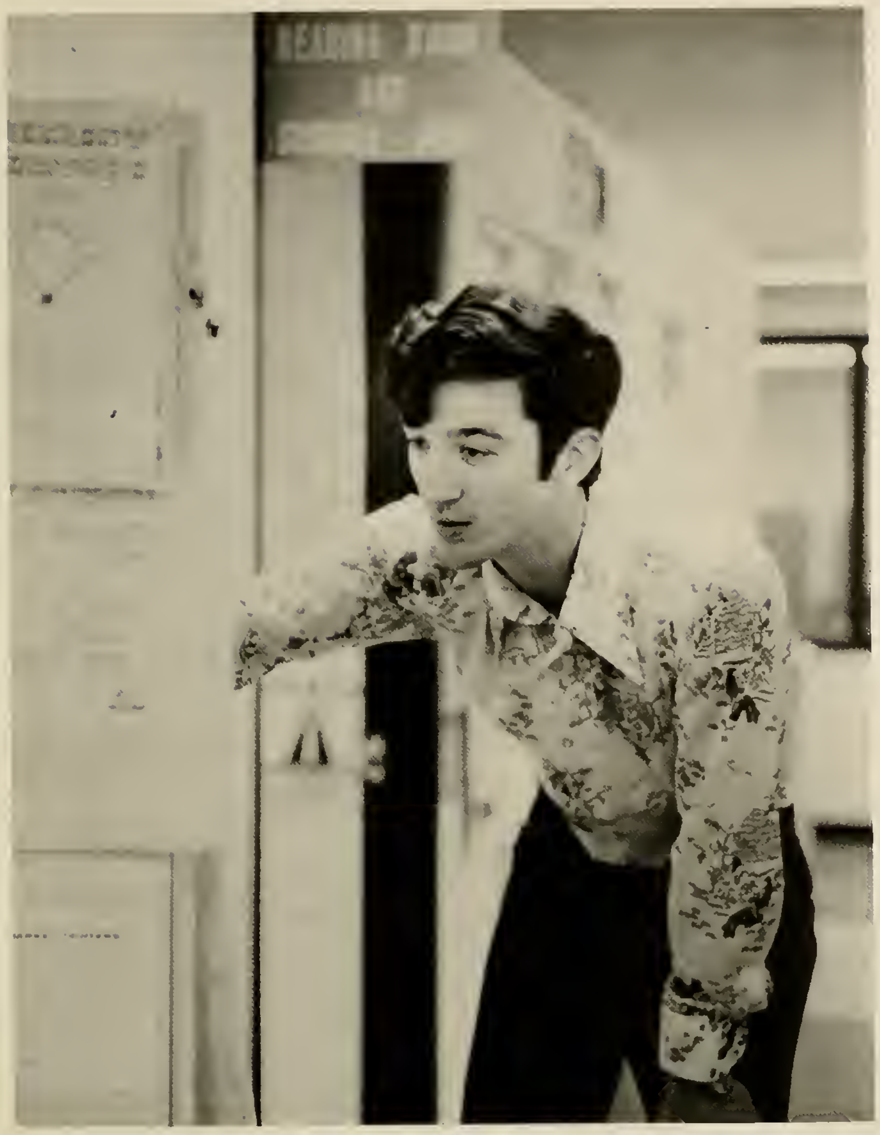
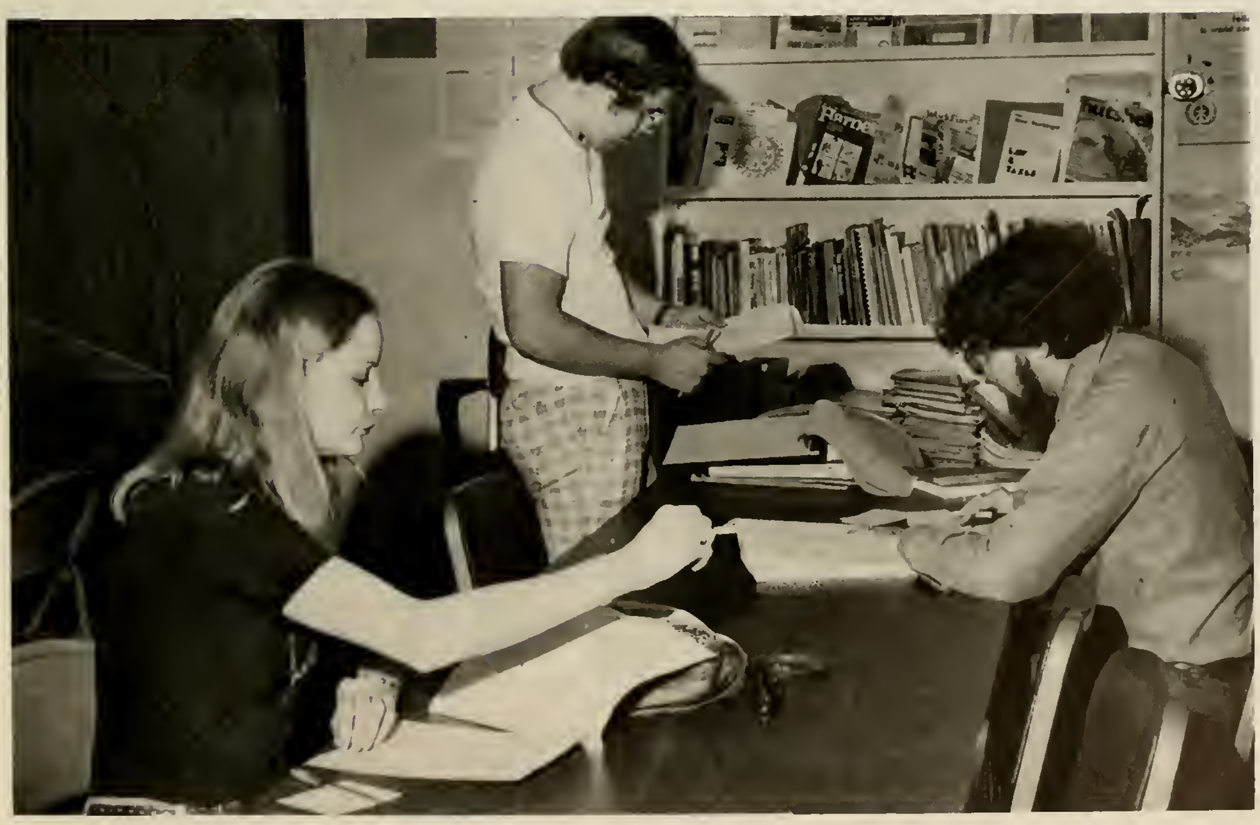
APPLICATION

Yearly Job Hunt

The Placement Service serves as a beneficial resource for both graduating seniors and undergraduates. Not only does it contain information about job openings, but it can also aid in hunting for part-time jobs, summer jobs, career goals and graduate work. Registering at the Placement Service entitles a student to credential service, referral service, alumni service and opportunities to interview.







Zzz . . .

This rarely gotten prize comes as a result of an "all nighter," "too much," a boring lecture, a boring textbook or from knowing that your last final is over. Sleep also means the dormant state your mind goes into in the summer, as you hibernate from school.
